

Children Pass Holiday With Mrs. Stillman

All Four at Mother's Home, Including Daughter, Who Had Said She Would Be Elsewhere Over Christmas

Efforts at Peace Revived

Wife May Attend Montreal Divorce Hearing, but Guy Will Not Be Taken North

All of Mrs. Anne Urquhart Potter Stillman's children passed Christmas with her yesterday for the first time. Anne Stillman, who got back from Europe Friday and still hopes to effect a reconciliation between her mother and James A. Stillman, who is suing her for divorce, was at her mother's home at 910 Fifth Avenue.

So were her brothers, Alexander, James and Guy. Guy is the child whose legitimacy is questioned by Mr. Stillman in his suit. It was declared by Mr. Stillman that Fred Beauvais, a French Canadian guide, was Guy's father.

When Miss Stillman arrived from Europe she was quoted as saying that she did not expect to pass Christmas with either of her parents. She expected to be with friends, she said. Her presence at her mother's home led to the belief that she had started to carry out a plan to bring her parents together again.

James J. Brennan, of Yonkers, chief counsel for Mrs. Stillman, said that Miss Stillman still hoped to reconcile the differences between her parents. Her return to this country at Christmas with that purpose was a beautiful thought, he said.

"I understand," he added, "that Mrs. Stillman and her children are together today. The next morning will be before a Canadian commissioner in Montreal January 11, when we will take the testimony of Canadian witnesses. Baby Guy, whose birth is disputed by Mr. Stillman, will not be in Montreal at that time. It is not necessary to take him up there; but Mrs. Stillman may be there."

Miss Stillman is on a vacation from a finishing school in France. From the steamship pier she motored to the home of friends on Long Island, with whom she remained until Saturday. Christmas Eve she joined her mother and her brothers at 910 Fifth Avenue for the first Christmas celebration they were to have together. She brought with her many bundles, which, it was thought, contained Christmas presents for her relatives.

After two weeks she will have to return to school in France.
